The Office and Job Printing establishment of the NEWPORT DAILY NEWS and WEEKLY JOURNAL has recently been removed from 115, to 123 Thames st. The undersigned hopes to see his friends and to receive a continuance of the patronage already bestowed upon him.

'Great Cry and Little Weol.'

A good deal of shouting is set up, in certain quarters, over what seems to be considered the very wonderful achievements of the new Overland Mail line between St. Louis and California—the mail and some half dozen passengers having been staged throughout the whole distance, by way of Texas, in some 23 days, or thereabouts. Now, at the risk of being thought very dull of comprehension, we must say that we see nothing so very marvellous in this performance. On the contrary, there seems no reason to doubt that if anything like the most direct route had been selected, the time might have been reduced three or four days just as well as not.

Can anybody tell what was the use of running this mail route away down to Texas, in order to get to San Francisco? That city lies nearly as far north as the 38th parallel, and St. Louis, the eastern terminus of the route, still farther north. But this overland mail route has been run away down to the 34th parallel, on the Red River, in Texas, where nobody but Indians and buffaloes inhabit, instead of being laid out on any of the numerous and equally practicable lines running westwardly from St. Louis.

This Overland mail route is to cost the people the snug little sum of $600,000 a year; and precisely what there is about it that makes it proper to crow over it, at any great rate, it is not easy to see. If it does anything like paying one-half its actual expenses, we shall be glad—but there is no hopes of it. It will not, in all probability, so much as one quarter pay, nor anything like it. Great calculations are made in some of the federal journals, about the wonderfully rapid and extensive settlements that are going to spring up, like magic, all along the whole mail route from St. Louis to California. But that, we beg leave to suggest, is one of the things that remains to be seen—perhaps. We do not anticipate any very remarkable results in that line, but shall be entirely willing to be disappointed.

One good Railroad to California, by the most direct and practicable route, would be worth more, as a means of transit and defence, than all the slow-coach Texas wagon roads that could be constructed with the whole revenues of the federal government. Such a Railroad the people have long demanded, and their slothful and unfaithful servants will do well to set about its construction before they are much older.

Capt. James Goodrich, aged eighty-nine years, died at his residence in Elm street, Newhaven, on Sunday morning. He was in early and middle life engaged in the East India trade, and made a handsome fortune in it, but lost a goodly portion of it by the European cruelties during the war of Napoleon. He has long been waiting for justice from his own country in respect to his losses by the French; but he has not lived to see his claims recognized.

Capt. Goodrich was not alone in his sad case. Hundreds of these are living in penury or leaving to their children a sad inheritance of toil and suffering, whose grey hairs would never have gone down in sorrow to the grave but for the destined conduct of their own government, in regard to the "French claims." We are taunted with Mississippi repudiation and Schuyler defalcation; but there never was such a deep and damning stain on the escutcheon of our country, as the conduct of our government to its own citizens in this matter. The indemnity for private losses which Andrew Jackson wrested from the French Government, James K. Polk refused to have divided among its rightful owners by vetoing the bill for that purpose; and our glorious Union stands to this day in the position of a dead agent, who has collected the money of his principal, and put it in his own pocket. The facts of this case, have never elicited the public attention which they deserve. But the elements were nearly all hard-working New-Englanders, traders and shipmasters, and could not expect that such direct attention could be paid to what Senator Hammond terms the "mud-sill" of American Society.

Last week, Jonathan Hayner, of Rochester, N. Y., fell down stairs and was killed. He was carried to a police station, but the officers were so superstitious they would not allow the corpse to be taken into the office.

The dark Ruler, from Richmond, Va., for a South American port, was reported at Norfolk, on Saturday, to be in a state of mutiny.

The Rev. Henry A. Wise, Jr., son of Gov. Wise, was ordained a minister of the Episcopal Church, of Richmond, Va., on Tuesday last.

LOCAL NEWS.

THE EXCHANGISTS ARRIVED HOME FROM BRISTOL about 12 o'clock Wednesday night, without any accident or incident to darken the recollection of the occasion. The sweet music discoursed by the band as they marched through the streets, and the cheers of the fire men as each separated from the other at their engine houses was enlivening to those who were fortunate enough to be awake at the time. The fire was exceedingly fortunate in their selection of the time, as a more lovely night for the occasion has not nor probably will occur the present season.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.—Wednesday evening, as William Gallagher, who works for Mr. Prescott Hall, about a mile out of town, was returning from his work, he was set upon by another Irishman named Barney Fagan, between whom and Gallagher and old feud existed, and beaten and stabbed in the most frightful manner, about the head and neck. Having thus glutted his vengeance, the cowardly assassin fled, and has not yet been arrested, though the most vigilant search is being made for him by the police.

NEW MUSIC HALL.—We learn that the Hall in Hunter's Block has been leased by the Philharmonic Society, who intend to fit it up for their use. It will make a pleasant room for them, and we are pleased to record this new sign of their prosperity. It will also be seen by an advertisement in another column, that Dr. Wood intend getting up a music class sufficient encouragement is shown to warrant it. The Doctor's talents and abilities as a music teacher are well understood by our community, many of whom will be pleased of the opportunity now afforded to patronize him and benefit themselves.

The communication of "Suffolk" came to hand too late for insertion but shall receive attention to-morrow.

Colored Merit.

MR. EDITOR:—If an occasional line will be acceptable, I shall be pleased to drop it. Not that I can draw my quill with the elegance and force that marks yours; but, as we are all pleased with variety, a line now and then from a correspondent, may not be amiss. I shall not, in this instance, draw upon my imagination; I shall not attempt to elucidate any great principle; but simply to give your readers the benefit of an incident that it may be apropos now to present. Harriet Beecher Stow, in a letter, writes as follows: "The great argument on which they" (the supporters of slavery) rely, is, that the African race are naturally inferior, incapable of the education and progress of the white race, and only capable of subsisting in a servile and dependant position."

Hence it is that every colored person who achieves anything noticeable in the intellectual world, by that very deed assaults the main fort which defends the castle of slavery.

A colored artist like Ira Aldridge, whose acting has become famous in all the courts of Europe; a colored orator like Frederick Douglass—nay, every gentlemanly, well-educated colored man, in his sphere, is an argument in the face of pro-slavery politicians and religionists, greater than any or all abolitionists unsupported by this are able to produce.

No race so abused, maltreated, and enslaved, could have developed faster than the Africans during the last fifty years.

Although the world has been in arms against them, and all that they have undertaken or achieved has been under crushing odds, yet there is no manner of doubt, that the race is rising, and destined to be a living power, and have a living history in the world.

The remarks were introductory to the main fact given, which, however, being now fully given by a correspondent of Frederick Douglass' paper from Paris I shall substitute the latter.

Once a year, in France, there is what is called a concours—which is a union of all the colleges in the Empire at the sorbonne in this city. At this meeting the prizes are distributed. Last week this concours was held. M. M. Faubert, a young man of color, from Hayti, obtained the highest prize—the Prize of Honor. On the reception of this news, the Emperor immediately sent him one hundred and fifty handsomely bound volumes. A Company of National Guards were dispatched to wait upon him with a band of music, and he was invited and did dine with the Minister of Public Instruction, having the honor of occupying a place between his lady and Prince Napoleon. This is remarkable. In Paris, where intelligence is no rare thing, and where intense study is not, as I understand, considered as a marvel. But when the further fact is known, that this three first prizes in Greek, Latin, and Rhetoric, were triumphantly carried off by young colored men, does not the marvel increase? This generous act on the part of an Emperor, this act of notice, this worthy appreciation of talent under a black skin by "a Prince," contrasts most vividly with the notice of the School Authorities of this city in denying to a colored man the advantages of public instruction in a School which his money sustains.

CAUGHT ON THE JURY.—The following which we heard told as a fact some time ago, is too good to be lost, and may be beneficial to some gentleman who has a young unsuspecting wife: A certain man, who lived about ten miles from K—, was in the habit of going to town about once a week and getting on a regular spree, and would not return until he had time to "cool off," which was generally two or three days. His wife was ignorant of the cause of his staying out so long, and suffered greatly from anxiety about his welfare. When he would return, of course his confiding wife would inquire what had been the matter with him, and the inevitable reply was "that he was caught on the jury and couldn't get off."

Having gathered his corn and placed it in a large heap, he according to custom, determined to call in his neighbors and have a real corn shucking frolic. So he gave Ned, a faithful servant, a jug and an order to go to town and get a gallon of whiskey—a very necessary article on such occasions. Ned mounted a mule and was soon in town and equipped with the whiskey, and remounted to set out for home, all buoyant with the prospect of fun at the "shucking."

When he had proceeded a few hundred yards from town he concluded to try the "stuff," and not satisfied with once kept trying until the world turned around so fast that he turned off the mule, and there he went to sleep and the mule to grazing. It was now nearly light, and when Ned awoke it was just before the break of day, and so dark that he was unable to make any start towards home until light. As soon as he got the "point," he started with an empty jug, the whiskey having run out, and also, for the mule had gone home. Of course he was contemplating the application of a "two year old hickory," or a piece of twisted cowhide, as he went on at the rate of two-forty.

Ned reached home about breakfast time, and "fetched up" at the back door with a decidedly guilty countenance.

"What in thunder have you been at, you black," rascal said his master.

Ned knowing his master's excuse to his wife when he got on a spree, determined to tell the truth if he died for it, and said: "Well, master to tell the truth, I was kotched on the jury and couldn't get off."

A MAN RUNS WILD.—During the reception yesterday afternoon, at the Battery of the 71st Regiment, by the 7th, the crowd were entertained by an exhibition which mingled amusement with terror in a decidedly novel way. An individual, evidently suffering from recent libations, got into one of the houses of the row at the foot of Broadway, and instantly mounted to the roof, thence to the chimney, springing from one dormer window to another—in fact, throwing the most agile antics of the monkey completely into the shade. Finally, balancing himself on one foot on the top of a chimney, he harangued the crowd at length. Two policemen were in the mean time illustrating their nimbleness of foot in trying to terminate his performance; but he, anticipating the movements of his pursuers, would no sooner allow them to appear on one roof than he would instantly disappear through the dormer window of another, and presently emerging from another window, salute them with his most Chesterfieldian bow. Finally more by stratagem than agility, they succeeded in capturing the game and tagging him in the First District Police Station-House.—New York Tribune, 19th.

ANCIENT SHIP-BUILDING.—The ancients seem to have outdone all succeeding attempts—the Leviathan of 1858 alone excepted. Some of the galleys, from description left us, were superb. Ptolemy Philopater had one built which was four hundred and twenty feet long and twenty-eight broad, and required a complement of four thousand rowers, four thousand sailors, and three hundred soldiers; but that of Hiero, constructed by the renowned Archimedes, consumed wood enough to build sixty large galleys, and it was fitted up in a style that throws the most splendid of our vessels into a wide distance. There was not only banqueting-room, galleries, baths, library, and a spacious gymnasium, finished and furnished with the most admirable skill and costly materials, with stables, fish-ponds, mills and gardens; but there was a Temple of Venus, fitted up in a gorgeous style, the floor being laid with precious stones, the walls of cypress wood, ornamented with choice paintings and statues. The warlike appurtenances or this marine monster were on a corresponding scale of formidable grandeur. The vessel was surrounded by iron bulwarks, like a rampart, masonry, and strengthened with eight towers, and there were machines sufficiently powerful to project a stone three hundred pounds weight, or a dart seventeen feet and a half long, a distance of half a mile.

THE FEVER AT NEW ORLEANS.—Extract of a private letter from New Orleans, from one who has remained through the past two or three years in that climate, of Oct. 4th, 1858:

I have this day more friends down sick than ever, and have spent many a dollar to help some poor fellows to keep them out of the Charity Hospitals, now so crowded with patients. I have done all I possibly can on all sides, but there is plenty to do yet.

Robert McCue, of Schenectady, died suddenly, on Friday night, and the verdict of the coroner's jury was, "we find that, by his extreme age, and disease of the heart, the same Almightly power that placed him here has taken him to himself."

HOOPED SKIRTS.

Tell me, thou mighty deop!
With waves as blue and clear,
Is there a "good time coming" soon,
When hoops shall disappear?
Some foreign rock-bound shore,
Some island far away,
Where these outrageous street ballads
Shall be all glossed away?
The mighty deop was ruffled by a squall,
And answered, low and sadly: "none at all!"

One of the best Purgative and Liver Medicines now before the public, is the Colo-Chin, a Cathartic, emetic, mild, and non-injurious, and stronger than any other medicine known. It is not only a Cathartic, but a Liver and Gall bladder medicine, acting first on the Liver to effect its morbid tendency, then on the stomach and bowels to carry off that matter, thus accomplishing two purposes effectually, without any of the painful feelings experienced in the operations of most Cathartics. It strengthens the system at the same time that it purges it; and when taken daily in moderate doses, will strengthen and build it up with unusual facility.

All who use it are giving their unanimous testimony to its power.
SPRINK WATER in the mouth with the invigorator, and swallow both together.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR
 IS A SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL DISCOVERY, and is daily working cures, almost too great to believe. It cures as if by magic, even the most dense giving benefit, and seldom more than one bottle is required to cure any kind of Liver Complaint, from the worst Jaundice or Dyspepsia to a common Headache, which are the result of a diseased Liver.

 "The Restorative of Prof. C. S. WOOD (c.) is a powerful and permanent restorative yet had a very warm after-symptom."
 might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that "it is a perfect Restorative;" but read the circular and you cannot doubt—read also the following.
 "This Remedy—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been amplifiable ways. By a recent discovery of Professors Wood these articles are being still dispensed rich, but a great many persons still purchase them, because they have been a long time popular upon the Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request, that they will try on again, for in Wood's Restorative is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time and her head is now covered completely with the thickest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which was

It is also without doubt one of the best methods for keeping the hair in good condition, by making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself a greatest of all the gifts that hair is able to.

It is the duty of every one to improve personal appearance, though some may disagree in regard to the ways of doing it; but everyone will admit that a beautiful head of hair either in man or woman, is an object much to be prized, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a condition.

Cochran, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the past season for one of your local agents (F. M. Hackins) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself. I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some State in the West, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the drug business for several years; and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the sensitive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours. Being fully convinced that your restoration is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly,
J. T. STOCKMAN.
